

Organization

Research & Development

In order to achieve the company vision and mission, PT Bukit Surya Mas realize that the important key towards such achievement its and outstanding production equipment and the research & development equipped with laboratory facilities such as data color, injection machine, blow machine, extruder, etc.

The research & development is very important department in anticipating fast development of technology. It is also responsible for quality assurance, quality enhancement, and inventing new line of products
Research & Development

In order to achieve the company vision and mission, PT Bukit Surya Mas realize that the important key towards such achievement its and outstanding production equipment and the research & development equipped with laboratory facilities such as data color, injection machine, blow machine, extruder, etc.

The research & development is very important department in anticipating fast development of technology. It is also responsible for quality assurance, quality enhancement, and inventing new line of products

In addition, PT Bukit Surya Mas continuously provides various training for its staffs in order to gain qualified human resources.

We prove R&D to meet our customers needs to fulfill the variety of orders and to achieve the maximum result that satisfies our customers.

Quality Control

All aspects from incoming Raw materials until the end control of finished products